An Expression of Trust

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
President Eisenhower's re-election to a second term is above all a reaffirmation of the deep trust with which he is regarded by a majority of Americans.

The fact of this trustful relationship was well established before the 1956 campaign. Nothing which took place in the pre-election campaigning served to shatter that basic attitude of confidence in the President.

Indeed, there is substantial evidence that both world events and the developments of the campaign itself actually reinforced Mr. Eisenhower's hold on the American people.

Election eve soundings indicated that he rather than Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, was the chief beneficiary of the grave uncertainties which arose from war in the Middle East and Soviet satellite revolt in Eastern Europe.

The evidence suggested, too, that the President gained votes both among Democrats and fence-sitters as result of Stevenson's proposals for a ban on H-bomb tests and an early end to the draft.

The popular feeling was that on balance Mr. Eisenhower, an experienced military man, was better qualified than Stevenson to determine these matters and to guide the nation in a troubled time.

Working for the President in this field was the fact that America itself had not been involved in a shooting war since the Korean war ended in the first months of his administration. Clearly this was of overriding importance to many millions of Americans in all walks of life.

As the Democrats failed to shake the overwhelming popular confidence in the President's ability to preserve the peace, so they failed to convince most Americans that today's prosperity is false.

Some farmers, as predicted, turned against Ike in the grain belt states, but nowhere was the defection big enough to pull a state into Stevenson's column.

All over the land the figures showed that in the vital economic sphere Mr. Eisenhower's strength not only held but in many cases was heavily enlarged over 1952. Big cities long Democratic strongholds toppled into his column.

Millions of workers stayed with him not only in the peace issue but on the ground that they had during his first regime enjoyed perhaps the best four years they had ever known. The old link between the Republicans and depression was manifestly weakened.

Combating a popular President who could employ "peace and prosperity" as his principal battle cry would not have been easy for the Democratic party under the best of circumstances.

But their difficulties were compounded by the gradually emerging evidence that Stevenson as a candidate could not fire the popular imagination. His political personality did not register with many millions, and he could not find the issues from which to build a winning trend.

At 66, President Eisenhower again has the people's mandate to take them safely through perilous international seas on a course of widening social and economic progress.

Warmer Winters?

The earth's orbit is such that the sun is 3,000,000 miles closer in January than in July. If the sun's rays did not strike the northern hemisphere more obliquely then, winter would be warmer than summer.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Governor Lausche Is Wooded By White House; Democrats' Plans For Probing Election Scandals Are Hurt By "Gone" Gore; Senator Clements Of Kentucky Pushed As New Democratic Chairman.

WASHINGTON. — Senator-elect Frank Lausche of Ohio, whom Ohio Democrats don't always like and whom Ohio Republicans sometimes love, has now got himself more betwixt and between than ever.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, has been on the telephone warning Lausche that he had better make up his mind whether he is going to be a Democrat or a Republican.

Simultaneously, White House representatives have been on the phone to Lausche, urging him to side with Ike and organize the Senate for the GOP.

Lyndon Johnson, who can be as tough a talker as he can be charming, told Lausche in no uncertain terms what would happen if he didn't vote with his own party on organizing the Senate. If he voted Republican, Johnson warned he could go over and sit with the Republicans on the other side of the aisle. He would get no committee appointments from the Democrats, he would have to get them from the Republicans.

The White House meanwhile has been hinting at various rewards to Lausche if he will vote Republican on reorganization. Few sons of Slovenian immigrants have ever been so courted as the five-times governor of Ohio.

Note—If Lausche sticks to his idea of remaining as governor of Ohio until January 14, which is after the Senate is organized, it will mean the Democrats organized the Senate.

The vote in that case would be 48 Democrats and 47 Republicans. Lausche would have to be present and vote with the Republicans to make a tie, thus permitting Vice President Nixon to cast his vote.

SENATOR "GONE" GORE
Democratic plans to probe two suspicious elections may have gone glimmering, thanks to one of the so-called "bright young men" of the Democratic party, Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee.

Senator Gore is in charge of the subcommittee on election investigations, but now he's gone. He left for Europe one day after the election, and a lot of his colleagues are cursing him under their breath.

The two suspicious elections are in Kentucky and South Dakota. In the latter state, a big wad of sample ballots have been discovered which were stuffed into ballot boxes as official ballots. Hundreds of these have been recovered, possibly enough to change the election.

In Kentucky, where GOP Thruston Morton nosed out Sen. Earle Clements by a narrow margin, affidavits already have been secured indicating Negro vote-buying in Louisville. Senators are also suspicious of Eastern Kentucky areas, where Gov. Happy Chandler's cohorts were reported working with Republicans to make that normally Republican area black out almost all Democratic votes.

NEW DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN
Sen. Earle Clements, the hard-working, headline-shunning Senate whip who was defeated in Kentucky, is being urged as next chairman of the Democratic National committee. Argument is that the Democrats need a bridge between North and South. Clements, from a border state, would be such a bridge. Not since 1920 when the late Cordell Hull of Tennessee, later secretary of state, was chairman have the Democrats had a Southerner at the helm of the party. Since then Northerners, usually Irish Catholics, have been picked to head the national committee—Jim Farley of New York, Frank Walker of Pennsylvania, Ed Flynn of the Bronx, Bob Hannegan of St. Louis, Bill Boyle of Kansas City, Steve Mitchell of Chicago, and Paul Butler of South Bend, Ind. Purpose was to win the northern big-city vote.

Now that the solid South is no longer solid, however, many Democrats feel that it's time to get a man who understands both the Northern and Southern viewpoint. Senator Clements is strongly endorsed by labor and has been moderate on civil rights. His friend, Carlos Oakley, superintendent of schools in Sturgis, championed the right of Negroes to attend white schools. As Senate Democratic whip he has been able to get both Northern and Southern senators to cooperate.

Note—Paul Butler, now Democratic chairman, expects to resign soon.

ELECTION AFTERMATHS
Most cautious candidate of them all was Jack Javits, GOP senator-elect from New York. Not for one hour after his Democratic opponent, Mayor Robert Wagner, conceded would Javits make a victory statement. Unlike his predecessor, Herbert Lehman, he'll be equally cautious as a senator. Best election news story: Murray Kempton in the N. Y. Post on lonely Adlai's lonely retirement on election night.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D. (Written for NEA Service)

Books are published to be read, but not all books are read by the people who own them. Some people buy books to be used as ornaments in their living quarters. Booksellers receive occasional orders for "so many feet" of green books, red books or black books which must be a specified size.

When the subject matter of the books is unimportant and when books become mere ornaments, they cannot tell a story, influence people or stir minds to constructive thought. Books have been described as possessing the power of dynamite or the calming influence of friendship. Yet the book that merely rests on a table has no more power than a speck of dust.

There is one book however which goes beyond being an ornament without being read in many homes. The Bible is held sacred by almost everyone. Some people feel that the Bible in itself has some magic power to bless, to protect, or to smile. Many who never read the Bible are actually superstitious about the mere physical presence of it.

The Bible is printed to be read. The Word of God is to be studied and applied to daily living. It is a guide through human confusion, and a comfort in time of trouble.

The housewife feeds and breeds most extensively in manure, garbage and fermenting crop wastes.

Mental Retardation Hits Three Out of Every Hundred Children

An estimated three out of every hundred children born in Saline county are destined to carry one of the most tragic of human handicaps—mental retardation. It was pointed out today by Miss Sara Nelson, president of the Saline County Ass'n for Mentally Retarded Children.

This is not peculiar to our community but is a national average. Miss Nelson states, as it was revealed in October at the National Association for Retarded Children meeting in annual convention in Seattle, Wash.

The handicap is no respecter of income bracket, race, color or background. It strikes everywhere from slums to prairie farm houses to metropolitan mansions. J. Clifford MacDonald, president of the National Association for Retarded Children, said that in the United States alone a conservative estimate of those directly concerned with the problem number some 10 million persons—the nearly five million afflicted, their parents, brothers and sisters.

What It Is
Mental retardation is not "caught" as a disease. It is a condition of impaired or incomplete mental development which dates from birth or an early age. Sometimes it is difficult to diagnose early as its usual symptoms are slowness to develop mentally, slow speech capacity and reduction of social aptitudes. There are vast differences in types of mental retardation ranging from the brain-injured, mongoloids, microcephalics and hydrocephalics to those because of normal variations in the human race fall in the lowest intellectual levels. But all the mentally retarded have one characteristic in common—they will need some degree of help throughout their lives in their struggle to live in society.

Its Cause
Unlike many diseases which have fallen before research and for which cures are known, mental retardation cannot be cured. There are at least 70 known or suspected causes that fall into three general categories. Those before birth, during birth and after birth. Measles, hepatitis and other diseases during pregnancy are known sometimes to cause mental retardation among babies, as is incomplete blood between mother and child, such as Rh factor.

Facilities Are Needed
In order to develop to their fullest capacities, many services are needed. All retarded children do not need all services, but all the services are required. These include diagnostic centers, special nursery schools, special classes, recreational facilities and programs designed for their particular needs, and homelike residence centers for those who must be institutionalized.

However, according to the National Association for Retarded Children, the first requirement after the love and security that a family can give a retarded child, is the sympathy and understanding of the community in which the retarded child lives. An enlightened attitude is spreading throughout the United States today, and the lot of the mentally retarded child and adult is growing better. They are slowly getting the rights of an American heritage. As public concern and understanding grow, the National Association for Retarded Children is convinced, so will grow the effort to eliminate yet another health problem from the generations to come.

Malice and Hatred Building in World, Billy Graham Says

WHEATON, Ill. — Evangelist Billy Graham said Tuesday night that "malice and hatred are building, and the world... trembles in fear."

Graham made the statement in referring to the Middle East crisis before an overflow audience of some 3,000 persons at Wheaton College, his alma mater.

Graham recalled the biblical prophecy about Armageddon where the forces of good and evil were to fight a battle on "the great day of God."

"Now our diplomats are beginning to wonder if this may be it," he said in calling attention to the Middle East situation.

Earlier in the day, Graham received an honorary doctor of letters degree from the college which honored him as its "brave son."

He also was presented the distinguished service award of the college's alumni association.

Graham's wife, Ruth, was honored as a "daughter true" of the college.

Graham and his wife met on the Wheaton campus and were graduated in 1943.

Mamie Eisenhower Celebrates Her 60th Birthday; Likes White House

WASHINGTON — Mamie Eisenhower celebrated her 60th birthday anniversary today looking younger than when she became first lady four years ago.

Despite her love for their Gettysburg, Pa., farm, White House life obviously agrees with the brunette half of the "Ike and Mamie" team.

Mrs. Eisenhower currently has few official functions on her calendar. She is resting from the campaign and election and gathering energy for coming holiday and inaugural festivities.

A small intimate family celebration is expected to mark her birthday. The only public date on her schedule is to receive a full-length portrait of herself in her 1952 inaugural gown from the national Citizens for Eisenhower Committee.

A birthday party dinner tonight will include Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower and the four Eisenhower grandchildren; Mrs. Eisenhower's mother, Mrs. John S. Doud; and Mrs. Eisenhower's sister, Mrs. George Gordon Moore and her four children, including two married boys who have three youngsters of their own.

The President's birthday gift to "My Mamie" is likely to be kept private. But he has been known, husband-like, to give her something for the Gettysburg farm house as well as more personal.

A total of 1,251,577 Form 2240's After her husband's heart attack in September, 1955, there were reports that Mrs. Eisenhower would prefer that he retire from the stress and strain of public life to the quiet of their renovated farm house.

But close friends insisted, and later were borne out publicly by the President himself, that the First Lady was going happily along with her husband's decision to run again.

Now that the election is over and the Eisenhowers settle down for another four years in the White House, the answer Mrs. Eisenhower gave to a visiting school girl almost four years ago still seems to stand. The youngster asked how Mrs. Eisenhower liked living in the big mansion. The First Lady replied with her infectious grin:

"Wouldn't you like to live in the White House?"

President Andrew Jackson was nicknamed "Old Hickory."

When the scene cooled the person sitting next to Mme. Alphonse asked her if she objected to her husband carrying on like that in public.

"It is nothing," Mme. Alphonse replied, "all Frenchmen are emotional."

The next speaker pointed out that Mme. Auriol won the Harmon award for flying a jet plane 715.35 miles per hour. "And of course that makes her the fastest woman in the world," he said.

THERE'S A new way to teach Spanish that makes Berlitz sound tongue-tied. The technique was discovered in a class for ladies sponsored by Mrs. Eisenhower.

Seems the lessons were going rather slowly until a teacher introduced the subject of movie actress Ava Gardner's life in Madrid. The Spanish vocabulary the ladies have developed since is astonishing.

Day of the Outlaw

By Lee Wells

Copyright 1955, by Lee Wells. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Jack Bruhn's outlaw pack, one man wounded, hole up in Bitter during a chinook that makes the roads impassable. In the Wyoming saloon, while asserting their authority, they wound Lewis, an HC cowhand. Dr. Langer is called to attend to Lewis and Sherry Ratner, the wounded outlaw. Bruhn tells the doctor that Sherry will stay at his house.

VIII

The door suddenly opened and Dan wheeled about. There was a scuffle outside, an oath, and then a figure catapulted into the room. Clay Majors skidded to a halt, lunging against a table. He straightened and Dan saw the trickle of blood from his puffed lip, the beginning of a bruise high on one cheekbone. Good for Clay, Dan thought, he gave them an argument. Egan strode to Majors, grabbed his arm and whirled him about.

Bruhn looked inquiringly at Egan and Hiatt. "He gave you trouble?" "Some," Egan grinned. He handed a big key to Bruhn.

Bruhn looked again at Majors. "We've taken over for a while. We won't stay long and we don't figure anyone will get hurt or lose anything unless they rowl us." "Clay," Dan said quickly. "This is the Bruhn gang. Take a look at Lewis."

Majors blinked and, for the first time, saw Doc Langer working on Lewis's shoulder. He realized the man stretched out on the table was wounded. Majors' eyes widened and his skin took a pasty pallor. He swallowed and the fight left him.

"What's left?" Bruhn snapped. "The barbershop, the store and the lumber yard. There's a few houses. Tex, you and Denver pay a visit to the store. Make sure there's no horse stabled over there. If there is, he pitched the key to Tex, who deftly caught it, 'look 'em in the stable. Just make sure there's no horse loose in case some one decides to ride despite the gumbo."

Bruhn wheeled about and his cold eyes peered at Tommy. "Is there a vacant building in town?"

Tommy spoke grudgingly. "There's the old stage station by the bridge. It ain't used unless a preacher comes along."

Bruhn smiled. "Well, we're not sky pilots, but I guess we can send a man to heaven in our own way just as quick as a preacher."

Tex looked over the bar at Ava and ran his tongue around the inside of his cheek. One brow lifted as he smiled and a wicked glint came in his eyes. He walked to the end of the bar, disregarding the rest, and now he had an unrestricted view of the woman. His eyes moved up and down and his smile widened. He spoke carelessly over his shoulder.

"Jack, let's think this over a minute. I'd like to board out with some of the folks around here. It could be cozy."

Ava's eyes widened and a fiery color raced up her neck and into her face. Tommy's jaw dropped and his eyes rounded. He caught the full implication and his face went paper white, the color of killing anger, not fear. He made a strangled sound deep in his throat. Dan sensed what was coming and he threw himself athwart the bar, arm reaching for Tommy.

Tommy moved too fast. His arm whipped beneath the bar, reappeared, a heavy bung starter held like a club in his hand. His eyes turned glassy and wild, blazing at Tex in a venomous fury. Dan's fingers touched Tommy's shirt but he could not hold him as Tommy lunged toward Tex.

"Stand hitched," Bruhn roared. Tex took a hasty step backward, his slack lips and pinched eyes showing sudden, stunning fright at this little man who advanced with murderous determination. Tex forgot his holstered gun in this split second of panic.

Dan clawed himself erect, intending to whip around the bar between Tommy and Tex. Pace Odum stood a few feet away, a faint color touching his lean face, lip pulled back over even teeth in a delighted smile.

Dan caught only a blur as the man's hand whipped down and up. The room blasted with a single shot that rocked off the walls, bounced back and forth in roaring echoes. Tommy didn't hear them. The slug caught him full in the chest and slapped him against the back bar.

Dan suddenly whipped about, facing Pace, who still held his gun. His pale eyes glittered as he looked at the limp form on the floor.

With a choked curse Dan lunged toward the man, hands reaching for him.

Pace didn't notice for a fraction of a second and then his head whipped about. Dan had almost reached him. He saw the stripling's eyes light with a twisted, inward joy. The gun whipped down and Dan slammed into the man, his fingers instinctively grabbing the gun wrist and twisting the arm to one side. Pace did not lose his grip on the weapon. It roared again and Dan felt the heat of the muzzle blast, but the bullet smashed into the wall above the open storeroom door.

Dan felt heavy hands claw at him from the rear. He had a blurred glimpse of Bruhn at Pace's side. Then they were wrenched apart.

Bruhn held Pace easily, while the breed, Juarez, and Denver clung to Dan as he tried to break loose.

"Hold it, Pace," Bruhn snapped. He kept the gun leveled. "I don't want to give you a slug."

Mother, Daughter On Trial Dec. 6 on Charge of Murder

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ill. (AP) — A mother and her daughter, charged with murdering a Hartford, Conn., woman will go on trial here Dec. 10.

Circuit Judge B. J. Eovaldi of Benton set the trial date today. He said that 40 jurors will be called and it may be necessary to call 50 additional jurors the day of the trial to get a jury.

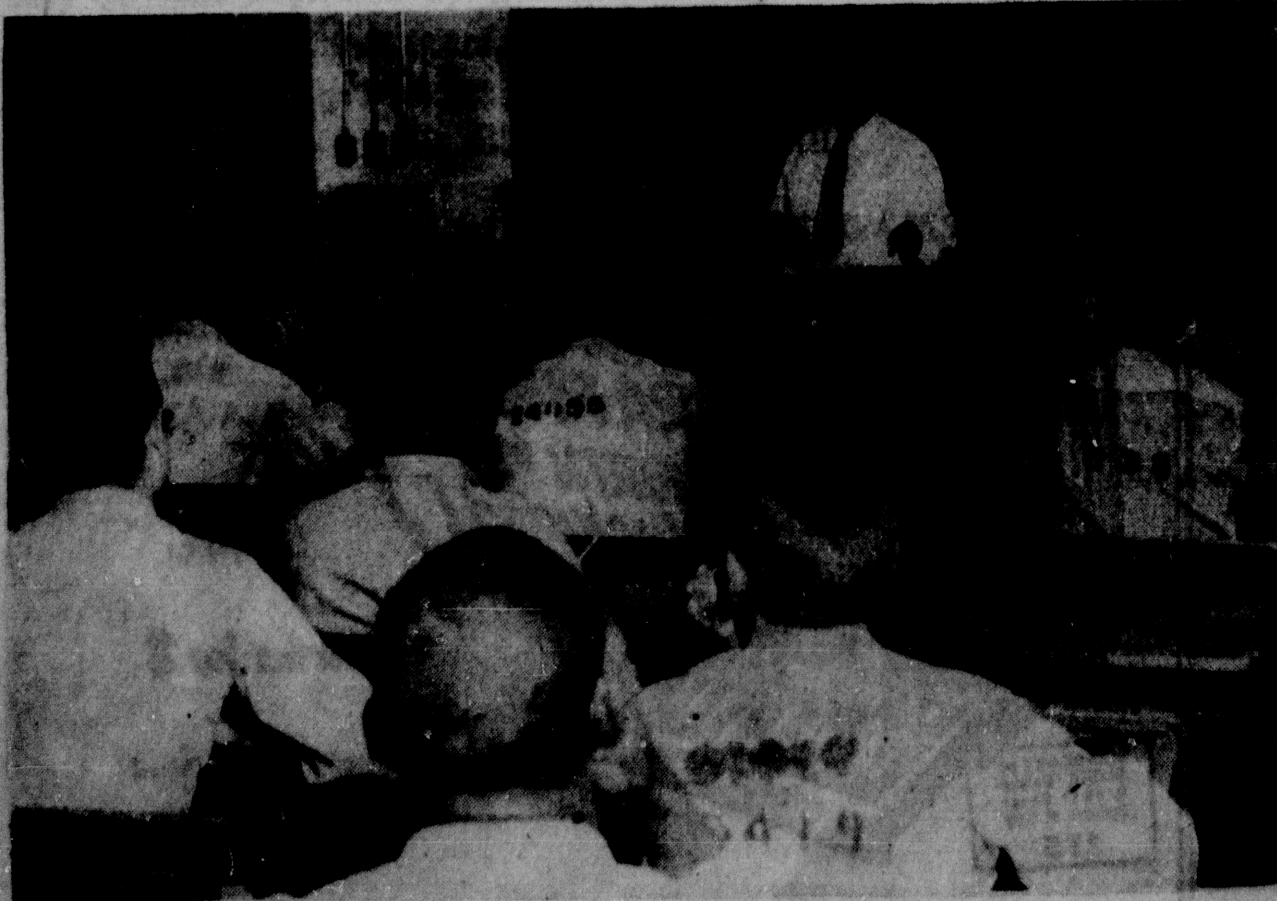

Mrs. June Davis and her 17-year-old daughter, Betty Ann, of Cave-in-Rock, have been indicted on charges of murder in the death of 18-year-old Betty Joiner on July 1, 1955.

Miss Joiner, former resident of Cave-in-Rock, died on a highway between Cave-in-Rock and Elizabethtown. She was struck by a car after she collapsed on the road while running after a scuffle with Miss Davis.

A coroner's jury ruled she died of a skull fracture but did not fix the cause of the injury.

The scuffle between the girls occurred after he Davies halted the car in which Miss Joiner was riding with Glenn McDowell of Cave-in-Rock, to whom Miss Davis said she was engaged.

Miss Davis admitted she pulled Miss Joiner from the car and may have slapped her once before Miss Joiner ran onto the highway and collapsed.

PRISONERS who have made the news now learn how to write it in a journalism course taught by a former police reporter, Professor Charles C. Clayton of the Department of Journalism at Southern Illinois University. Conducted at the Illinois State Penitentiary at Menard, the course allows three quarter hours of college credit. About 30 inmates attend the weekly class meeting. (SIU Photo)

IAA Official Collapses, Dies

CHICAGO (U) — Delegates to the 42nd annual convention of the Illinois Agricultural Assn. mourned the death of Charles J. Elliott today.

Elliott, 67, Streator—a vice president of the IAA—collapsed Tuesday as he adjourned a meeting of the IAA's Resolutions Committee. He was taken to Presbyterian Hospital where he died a short time later.

Doctors indicated death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage.

Otto Steffey, IAA president who was to make his annual address today, said "naturally we are all shocked at Mr. Elliott's sudden death."

"All of the members of the IAA have suffered a great loss," Steffey added. "He was a man of competence and diligence; he could be depended upon to do a good job at anything he undertook."

Elliott, a graduate of the University of Illinois, was a LaSalle County livestock producer and a pioneer in the organization of the IAA.

IAA President 'Disappointed' In Soil Bank Administration

CHICAGO (U)—The president of the Illinois Agricultural Assn. said today he has been "disappointed" with some aspect of the administration of the soil bank.

President Otto Steffey told the IAA's 42nd annual meeting that the program should be "constantly improved," through better administration and through amendments, if these are found necessary.

Steffey said in his annual address that the 1956 experience with the program, which was backed by the IAA and other Farm Bureau organizations, does not provide a basis for "evaluating" it.

"Frankly," he said, "we have been disappointed with some aspects of the administration of this program to date."

Says Department Wasn't Prepared

Steffey said the Department of books, raised scholarship standards and initiated new public relations projects to bring the public closer to the school.

Mr. Jennings is a lifetime member of the National Education Association, a member of the Illinois Education Association, Illinois Secondary School Principals' Association, National Association of Secondary School Principals, Egyptian Secondary Principals' Association, is president of the Saline County Alumni Association of SIU, past president of the Saline County Teachers' Association and has served as secretary-treasurer of the Mississippi Valley Division of the Illinois Education Association. He is also a member of the Masonic lodge and the Carrier Mills Lions Club.

In 1941 Jennings married the former Miss Lorelei Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Baker of Johnston City. They are both members of the Carrier Mills Methodist church and have two children, Darla Lea, 10, and Phillip Warren, 4.

The Jennings family will move to Metropolis around Christmas if suitable housing can be found.

Soviets Deport Hungarian Rebels to Russia

VIENNA (U) — The Hungarian Communist radio confirmed today that the Russians are deporting captured freedom fighters to the Soviet Union.

It also was reported that a convoy of 38 International Red Cross trucks entered Hungary at Nikelsdorf on the Austrian border at 4 p. m. (9 a. m. CST) with urgent needed medical supplies and food for ravaged Budapest.

The Communist-controlled Budapest Radio announced that railroad workers had seen trainloads of prisoners moving eastward and immediately had gone on strike in protest.

The broadcast added that factory workers who had gone back to their jobs also joined the protest walkout.

This was the first direct confirmation from the Reds themselves that the Russians are shipping off their Hungarian prisoners—presumably to Siberian slave labor camps.

But it followed close on the heels of reports from reliable sources in Budapest that Hungarian farmers blew up a railroad bridge not far from Budapest Tuesday and set free 500 insurgent prisoners from a Russia-bound train. According to this report, hundreds of notes were thrown out of the train by prisoners and were found by farmers along the tracks.

3 Boys Drown in Mississippi River

ST. PAUL, Minn. (U) — Two small boys heroically attempted to save a friend from the Mississippi River and all three drowned, police said today.

The boys, Lyle, 7, and Eugene Altman, 8, sons of Raymond Altman, and Robert Carroll, 7, son of Mrs. Elaine Carroll, had been missing since Sunday.

Their bodies were recovered from the river Tuesday about 20 feet from shore in downtown St. Paul.

Police indicated two of the boys drowned trying to save the other. They said a bank apparently gave way and one of the boys tumbled into the river. They said the other two boys apparently entered the icy water in a vain attempt to rescue their companion.

Nixon Relaxes In Florida

MIAMI (U) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon relaxed in Florida today from the rigors of the election campaign.

Nixon arrived Tuesday for a week or 10 days of "just plain relaxing" as the guest of long-time personal friend C. G. Robeson of Key Biscayne. Mrs. Nixon and the vice president's two children plan to join him shortly.

Inmate Who Fleed Jail Here Year Ago Arrested in Michigan

James "Lucky" Thompson, Saline county jail inmate who walked away about a year ago when being used as a trusty, was apprehended and taken to Robinson a few days ago, local authorities have been informed.

Thompson, arrested in Michigan, was taken to Robinson to face an indictment charging him with forgery.

Korean Armed Forces On Alert Due To Anti-Red Incidents in North

SEOUL, Korea (U) — President Syngman Rhee said today he had placed the Korean armed forces on an emergency alert because of anti-Communist incidents in North Korea that could lead to Soviet intervention.

Rhee, in a statement issued through the government information office, said "several bombs" had been exploded recently in North Korea and there is danger of "drastic steps" by Russia to hold on to the satellite.

Rhee did not say what kind of bombs were exploded. His military staff said recently it had evidence of two atomic tests in North Korea, one last year and one this spring.

Rhee said Republic of Korea military leaders have put the 700,000-man armed forces and the national police on an alert "in order to be ready to cope with any emergency that may arise from North Korea which exploded several bombs recently."

He said the Korean people should not become "over excited" as a result of the military alert, because all measures necessary to assure ROK security have been taken.

U. S. military chiefs in the Far East, presumably with access to the same intelligence information received by the ROK forces, have said they know of no proof that weapons have been introduced or tested in North Korea.

New Polish Gov't Group Leaves for Moscow Talks

WARSAW (U) — A high-ranking Communist Party and government delegation headed by Titoist party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka left today for Moscow and talks on the future of Poland.

The trip by train to Moscow for the showdown talks was at invitation of Soviet Communist Party leader Nikita S. Khrushchev, who paid a hurried visit to Warsaw last month when Gomulka led the move to shake up Poland's old Stalinist party and government.

The Poles postponed their visit because of Soviet troop movements in the tense country and Western reports of Soviet troop concentrations on the border.

Gomulka and Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz headed east after presenting a new Cabinet to the Sejm Parliament from which most of the Stalinists were dropped, including Defense Minister Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky.

Their departure came amidst new and disturbing signs of unrest in the country and unconfirmed reports of new Soviet troop reinforcements.

Observers said the "resignation" of Rokossovsky as defense minister and vice premier was an indication the present Polish leaders do not feel the Russians plan to make Poland into another Hungary. Poland has been sympathetic to Hungary in its struggle.

Rokossovsky was ousted earlier from the Communist Party Central Committee, but he remains deputy commander of the Warsaw Pact, the Communist "Red NATO."

A government announcement listed Gomulka first, which indicated he, not Cyrankiewicz, was leading the delegation to Moscow. Six other top leaders were named in the official communique.

Partain received a bad knee injury among other cuts and bruises. His room number is 223.

Wife Holds On to Money If It's Hers

NEW YORK — Women frequently are accused of being spendthrifts. But one female financial authority says the gals can be downright miserly—when the money is their own.

Frideborg Cronsoie, a Swedish banking executive, said she has reached this conclusion from observing women's spending and saving habits for 30 years. Miss Cronsoie, manager of one of the Stockholm branches of the Scandinavian Bank, has been on a visit to the United States to observe our banking methods and women's role in the U. S. economy.

"American and Swedish women have much in common in money matters," she said.

In both countries, women stockholders outnumber men. In both countries, women control 75 or more per cent of consumer spending. In both countries, women's interest in economics is growing rapidly.

And, she added, women in both countries who get in the habit of buying stocks hold onto their purchases.

"Women are not as speculative as men," she explained. "And they're not the spendthrifts men picture them. With some of them, you can't pry a stock loose."

Miss Cronsoie, who began her banking career 30 years ago as a teller, is one of only five women bank managers in Sweden, compared with some 10,000 women officers in United States banks.

"But," she said, "give us time. The men eventually will trust us with the money."

THE MIRACLE

J.R. WILLIAMS

Woman's Club Has Program On International Affairs

The Carrier Mills Women's club met recently in the lower rooms of the Masonic Temple for an interesting program on "International Affairs."

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Harry L. Fife. The song "The Light of the World is Jesus" was sung after which Mary Begg led in the "Pledge of Allegiance."

Cecil Abney of Harrisburg was accompanist at the piano for the evening.

During the business meeting it was decided to sell Christmas seals.

Mrs. W. L. Molsinger presented the program. Special music by the Melody Air trio consisting of Freda Moake, Mildred Chanay and Leah Travelstead, was followed by the meditation given by Mrs. Ernest Ammon whose theme was "Powers" taken from Romans and John. She closed with prayer.

After the song "We've a Story to Tell" led by Mrs. Hugh Meier, Mrs. Molsinger presented a guest speaker, Mrs. J. A. Musgraves, of Harrisburg who talked on her European tour and international affairs.

A potluck Christmas party was planned for Dec. 10.

Hostesses Mrs. F. F. Pankey, Mrs. Mable Chamness, Mrs. Guy Hunter and Mrs. Jade Chase served gingerbread, cider and coffee to approximately 45 members and visitors.

Korea Received Most U. S. Aid

WASHINGTON — Korea—a nation the size of Indiana—received the largest amount of U. S. technical and economic aid going to any country in the world during fiscal year 1956.

Aid to Korea totaled $387,000,000, the International Cooperation Administration announced. This figure excludes direct military assistance, such as planes and tanks.

Korea provides "the most clear-cut instance" of the need for defense support, the ICA said. With a population of 22,000,000 and a per capita gross national product of $80, Korea maintains 30 army divisions. The United States, itself, only has 20 army divisions, ICA pointed out.

These large forces, made possible by U. S. aid, are necessary to "deter renewed communist aggression," ICA said. And the aid also enables the country to build toward a more viable economy and improved living conditions.

Aid to Korea has emphasized the rehabilitation of the nation's transportation, communications, power, mining and agriculture. Technicians and administrative personnel are being trained in the United States and in Korea. In general, the ICA said, the assistance is "strengthening the governmental services for the people."

ICA said the aid was slated for the following projects:

1. Construction of three electric plants to relieve the severe power shortage.
2. Further restoration of the railroad network.
3. Improvement of roads, bridges, port installations and telephone communications.
4. Development of light industries. A fertilizer plant, now under construction, will supply one-third of Korea's nitrogenous fertilizer requirements. ICA sent $37,000,000 worth of fertilizer to Korea during 1956.

Russia Would Be

Destroyed if Attack

Launched: Gruenther

PARIS — Russia would be destroyed "just as certain as night followed day" if she launched atomic missiles against any North Atlantic Treaty Organization country, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther said today.

The Western powers have "crushing retaliatory power," the retiring supreme commander of the allied powers in Europe told a farewell news conference.

But the decisive blow against the Russian heartland, Gruenther said, would not come from SHAPE, but from America's Strategic Air Command and Britain's bomber command.

The spruce, blue-eyed general leaves Nov. 29 to become president of the American Red Cross. Gen. Lauris Norstad, U. S. Air Force, succeeds him here.

Lyceum Number Enjoyed at HTHS

Neil Foster and Jeanne presented a lyceum at HTHS Nov. 13 in Bonnell gymnasium.

The act consisted of sleight of hand artistry expressing skill and mystery in pantomime with a musical background plus humor and modern magic.

The Goodlife in London, England, had this to say of Mr. Foster: "He does things with a 'Zombie' never yet dreamed of, entirely new to this veteran reporter of nearly 2,500 acts. This is a show-stopping act."

Forfeits Prize

PITTSBURGH — A local woman who called up a Pittsburgh television station to notify it she had located a dollar bill with a "lucky" serial number was dismayed to learn she had to bring it to the station in order to collect her prize.

Coach Dotson Begins HTHS Cage Practice for Opener Nov. 24

Seven Lettermen on Squad; to Play 20 Games, 2 Tourneys

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs basketball team is practicing under its new head coach, John Dotson, for the opening tilt at Carmi a week from Saturday night.

The schedule for the year includes 20 carded games, the Egyptian Holiday tournament at West Frankfort and the Saline county tournament late in January in the Harrisburg gym.

Coach Dotson has seven lettermen back from the 11 who received letters last year during a mediocre season. However, only one, 6-3 Wayne Stone, is more than six feet in height.

The others are Ben Fulkerson, six feet; Bill Henshaw and John Zeigler 5-11, Ray Hassett, 5-10, and Jim and Charles Cummins, about 5-7 or 5-8.

Bryan Jones, 6-4 center, will not play this year because of a physical condition.

With football season over, a large number of candidates have reported for the various teams.

The schedule for the year: Nov. 24—Carmi there; Dec. 1, Eldorado here; Dec. 7, Marion here; Dec. 8, Carrier Mills here; Dec. 14, Herrin there; Dec. 15, Johnston City there; Dec. 18, Carbondale here; Dec. 21, West Frankfort there; Dec. 22, Centralia here; Dec. 26-28, Egyptian tourney at West Frankfort.

Jan. 11, Benton here; Jan. 12, Mt. Vernon here; Jan. 18, Marion here; Jan. 19, Herrin here; Jan. 23-26, Saline county tournament;

Feb. 1, West Frankfort here; Feb. 8, Centralia there; Feb. 9, McLeansboro here; Feb. 15, Benton there; Feb. 18, Eldorado there; Feb. 22, Mt. Vernon here; Feb. 23, Johnston City here.

The high school has announced that holders of season reserved seats last year who desire these seats for this season may get them at the Athletic House through this week. Next week the reserved tickets will be taken to the high school and sold on a first come, first served basis. In addition to the high school schedule, the Southern Illinois University basketball team will play a contest in Davenport gym during the holidays. It will be a Dec. 28 contest against Miami University of Oxford, Ohio.

Picking the Grid Winners

IN THE Sports Parade

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Fearless Frayley, who didn't get his Oscar for picking football winners, has retreated to Australia for the balance of this gridiron campaign. He may have taken all of his winners with him, but here's hoping he left a few.

Such as perhaps these:

Game of the Week

Iowa over Ohio State—Hawkeyes have been underdogs in most of their victories this season. The Rose Bowl awaits if they win this one so here's a vote for them to end the Buckeyes' Big Ten winning streak at 17.

The East

Yale over Princeton—Yale's hale males carry the mail.

Pittsburgh over Army—One more homicide in a suicide schedule.

Colgate over Syracuse—The rule on this one is "pick the underdog."

Boston College over Boston U.—Try B. C. for a headache remedy.

Harvard over Brown—The meek against the weak.

Columbia over Penn.—But passer Benham better be better.

Also—Cornell over Dartmouth, Holy Cross over Marquette, Penn State over North Carolina State, Navy over Virginia, William & Mary over Rutgers.

Midwest

Michigan over Indiana—The Wolverine is mighty keen.

Oklahoma over Missouri—No Sooner said than done.

Minnesota over Michigan State—The Gopher tunnels back toward top.

Notre Dame over North Carolina—Irish stew no longer over losing streak.

Also—Illinois over Wisconsin, Purdue over Northwestern, and Kansas State over Iowa State.

South

Tennessee over Mississippi—Any Volunteers to pick an upset?

Georgia Tech over Alabama—Doesn't Tech much courage for this.

Clemson over Miami—Tigers shine in preview Orange Bowl appearance.

Auburn over Georgia—Aw, burn your own midnight oil picking these things.

Mississippi State over Louisiana State—Just state your case.

Duke over Wake Forest—Only a nobleman would do this.

Also—Vanderbilt over Tulane, South Carolina over Maryland, Kentucky over Xavier, West Virginia over Furman, George Washington over The Citadel.

Southwest

Texas A&M over Rice—They're finding it hard to bear Bryant.

Arkansas over SMU—Razorbacks are razor sharp.

Texas Christian over Texas—But would you pick Horned Frogs over horned steers?

Also—Houston over Villanova, Detroit over Oklahoma A&M, Temple State over Arizona, Texas Western over West Texas.

Far West

Oregon State over Idaho—Even a hot potato won't stop drive to Rose Bowl.

Stanford over Washington—Indians thinking about Rose Bowl, too.

California over Washington State—A Waldorf salad.

Woman Fan Sues Two Wrestlers

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP)—Wrestlers Verne Gagne and Hans Schmidt were named defendants Tuesday in a $30,000 suit filed in District Court here.

Margie Chambers, East Moline, Ill., claimed she suffered injuries when Schmidt threw Gagne out of the ring during a wrestling match at Wharton Fieldhouse in Moline, Ill., last April.

She claimed Gagne was negligent in allowing himself to be thrown from the ring. The husky professional wrestler allegedly landed on the woman while she sat in the third row.

NCAA Action Crushes Bowl Hopes of Texas A&M, U. of Miami; N. Carolina State Hit

DETROIT (AP)—The bowl hopes of Texas A&M and the University of Miami were crushed Tuesday by the National Collegiate Athletic Association's council. But the biggest blow went to North Carolina State College.

The NCAA banned North Carolina State for four years from all championship events sponsored by the NCAA as well as 25 events that cooperate with the association's enforcement policy. And the school

Evashevski UP Coach of Week

IOWA CITY (AP)—For him it is the team that counts.

When they win a big one, he doesn't talk about individual stars. "The line is just as vital as the backfield. The offense just as important as the defense. So it is unfair to name individuals unless you name at least 11 boys," he says.

That's the philosophy of the United Press Coach of the Week, Forest Evashevski of Iowa's husling Hawkeyes, and he probably will make it pay off with a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Iowa's 7-0 triumph over Minnesota before millions of TV viewers Saturday was an authentic upset but Evashevski and his boys were not surprised. They planned on winning this one and they used unusual strategy. They took it easy all last week.

"We didn't try to get the boys up for Minnesota," he said. "We weren't keyed any higher than when we played Michigan. I didn't want them up too much. So I didn't do anything much all week. Just let them alone. I figured, let the other team get high and hope maybe it will backfire."

USC, which was hit hard by the PCC, was placed on probation until July 1, 1958. During the first year of the probation Southern Cal may not enter athletes or teams in NCAA title events and for the full two years, it may not participate in the NCAA television program.

California, which investigated its own athletic picture without being asked to by either the PCC or NCAA was put on probation until Nov. 13, 1957. But the Bears may enter all championship events and the cooperating events.

Yanks Win 1-2-3 Sweep in Pre-Olympic Shotput

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor

GEELEONG, Australia (AP)—The powerful U. S. track and field squad flexed its muscles against nine other nations tonight in a pre-Olympic meet and Parry O'Brien led a 1-2-3 Yank sweep in the shot put.

Hinting at the wholesale assault which will be made on current Olympic marks during the games, O'Brien of Glendale, Calif., heaved the 16-pound shot 60 feet, 4½ inches. This effort, produced in chilly, 45-degree temperature, far surpassed his 1952 Olympic record of 57 feet, 1.43 inches but was well off his best 1956 effort of 63 feet, 2 inches.

Ira Murchison of Chicago, Thane Baker of Elkhart, Kan., Bobby Morrow of San Benito, Tex., and Leamon King of Delano, Calif., defeated an Australian foursome in the 440-yard relay. The Americans won in 40.7 seconds. The world record is 40.2.

John Landy, world record-holder in the mile, finished 12th in a field of 15 as Chris Basher of Britain took the two-mile run with a new Australian mark of 8 minutes, 45.6 seconds. Phil Coleman of Urbana, Ill., was second.

Jim Bailey, the Aussie who studies at the University of Oregon, won the 1,000-yard run in 2:07.8, considered sparkling time for the grass course on which the races were staged.

Before the race, Jim Kelly, the U. S. track coach, hinted his men would be "under wraps" in the warmup meet.

Sooners Tops In Grid Offense

NEW YORK (AP)—The story is all Oklahoma in power football this year, and the NCAA pointed out today in its weekly major-college football statistics that the sensational Sooners have been the nation's best scoring team over the past 10 years.

Latest figures on the 1956 pigskin chase show national champion Oklahoma leading the parade in points scored with 41.7 per game, in total offense with 421.4 yards gained per game, and in rushing offense with 345.7 yards gained on the ground per game.

No team is close to Oklahoma in the scoring race. Arizona State is second with 33.4 per game, followed by Princeton with 30.9 and Army with 29.9.

The NCAA pointed out that Oklahoma over the past 10 years has averaged 33.1 points per game and an average of 379.7 yards gained per game, both tops in the nation.

Trailing Oklahoma in rushing are Ohio State, Army, Virginia Tech, and Southern California. The forward passing leader is Washington State with a 214.8 yards per game average, followed by San Jose State, Stanford, College of Pacific, and Navy.

SAFETY MEASURE—Isaac Logart pulled away to avoid a right-hand punch thrown by Clarence (Duke) Harris of Detroit. But when the Cuban welterweight settled down to business, he stopped Harris in the seventh round.

Pettit Scores 49, Hawks Win, 118-105

By United Press

Bob Pettit's record scoring spree entrenched the St. Louis Hawks a little more firmly in first place in the National Basketball Association's Western Division today.

Pettit broke three marks in collecting 49 points Monday night while pacing the Hawks to a 118-105 victory over the Rochester Royals at St. Louis.

His point total established a new St. Louis team record, and a new high for Kiel Auditorium. The former Louisiana State University star also flipped in 18 field goals for another team record.

Roger Suttner, Ridgway's 6-8 sophomore center, paced his team in the scoring column with 13 baskets and a free toss to score 27 points as Ridgway handed Shawneetown its first loss at home in 27 games.

The game was played before a standing-room-only crowd.

Stewart, Shawneetown's only returning regular from last year's fine team, was top scorer for the Galatia and Equality battled right down to the final whistle before the home town Galatia Bearcats won out 59-55.

Galatia was guilty of 25 fouls and Equality stayed in the ball game by hitting 27 free throws and missing 18. Galatia scored 17 free tosses and failed on 11 efforts.

Equality's leading point maker was sophomore Harlan Barnett with 15.

Cave-in-Rock went to Golconda to meet the Pope County cagers and captured a 51-42 decision. The winners trailed 13-8 after the first quarter, but came up with a big second frame and led 29-24 at half-time and held the lead thereafter.

Air Sergeant, Urbana Man Held in Robbery

DANVILLE, Ill. (AP) — An Air Force sergeant and an unemployed Urbana man were held in jail here today in the armed robbery of the Thomasboro, Ill., bank last Friday.

The FBI at Springfield late Monday announced the arrest of Melvin R. Wesley, 21, Urbana, on a charge of conspiracy in the robbery.

Earlier S. Sgt. Howard W. Berrian Jr., 27, Chanute Air Force Base, was arrested and charged as the man who impersonated an Air Force officer and robbed the bank of $1,536.

The FBI did not explain Wesley's alleged role in the holdup, but said he did not participate in the actual robbery.

Wesley was bound over to a federal grand jury and held in the Vermilion County jail here under $10,000 bond. Berrian was held under $25,000 bond.

Wesley was arrested at the home of his grandparents at Urbana.

Berrian, a 10 year veteran of the Air Force with a wife and two children, was arrested at his home in Chapman Court near the Chanute base Sunday. He listed his home town as Pensacola, Fla.

The bank robber, who was dressed in an Air Force lieutenant's uniform, fled in a car and was chased at speeds up to 100 miles an hour. He abandoned his getaway car at Chanute and fled into a barracks.

Air police found $1,521 of the loot stashed in a broom closet in the barracks. They also found an Air Force jacket with lieutenant's bars in a latrine in the barracks.

The FBI said Berrian was linked to the getaway car which had been taken from a Rantoul used car dealer and that he had been traced to the barracks into which the robber fled.

Annual Sale of Christmas Seals Begins in County

The annual sale of Christmas Seals gets underway today in Saline county. The drive is sponsored by the Saline County Tuberculosis association.

Mrs. Naida Seright Upchurch, secretary of the association, announced that $150 has been donated by the county association to the Illinois association for research in tuberculosis.

The following statement in regard to the 1956 Christmas Seal sale in Illinois has been made by Governor William G. Stratton:

"I Governor William G. Stratton, Governor of the State of Illinois, ask that all residents of our great state lend their support to the 1956 Christmas Seal Sale Campaign. The sale of Christmas Seals for the eradication and control of tuberculosis has become a fine and noble tradition and one worthy of the whole-hearted support of our citizenry.

"There is a real need for all of us to make a special effort to make this campaign a success. So far this year over 3,556 new cases have been reported in Illinois, and many more unknown cases are yet to be found. The work of each county tuberculosis association in Illinois is devoted to the task of finding active cases of tuberculosis, health education, nursing activities and other related services. The success or failure of tuberculosis control in Illinois depends entirely upon us.

"I am sure that our people, knowing the facts, will contribute generously to this year's campaign.
